2 · Indicators to report

SDG 15 · Life on Land · data year 2025

Indicator	Description
15.3.3	Local biodiversity included in planning and development. Include local biodiversity in planning and development, such as construction of new buildings.

3 · Optional: what other universities submit

What other universities claim for this indicator, and where MMSU might hold the same kind of evidence.

University	What it submits (indicator and type of evidence)	What to look for at MMSU
Caraga State University	15.3.3: campus planning that consults biodiversity data	Sirmata 2040 LUDIP, with its protected-land and forest-reserve provisions quoted.
Eastern Visayas State University	15.3.3: Board-approved Land Use Development and Infrastructure Plan	Sirmata 2040 LUDIP presented as the plan in force; quote its forest-reserve and green-space provisions.

Sirmata 2040, MMSU's Land Use Development and Infrastructure Plan (LUDIP), is the university's 20-year guide for managing its land resources and infrastructure. Prepared under Republic Act 11396, which requires state universities and colleges to have a LUDIP, and supported by a Php 2 million grant from the Commission on Higher Education (CHED), the plan covers the future land use of the MMSU campuses and the university's reserve areas in Nagbacsan, Payao, Lubbot and Sarnap, City of Batac, including the forest reserves where MMSU's forestry and agroforestry research is set up.

Local biodiversity is built into the plan's development rules. The zoning plan sets aside Protected Land, which "shall be conserved, preserved and to be excluded from any form of alteration except as may be permitted by operation of law" (Policy 9.1), and the MMSU Forest Reserve is kept as a no-build zone. Before any land is altered or converted, the plan requires a science-based assessment of its natural suitability and carrying capacity (Policies 7.1, 10.1 and 11.1).

The plan was developed through stakeholder consultations, sectoral studies and campus planning workshops, and was endorsed by the CHED Technical Working Group after validation visits to the campuses.
